“On one trip to the Bay Area, we met with several startups. It became clear that we needed to support the Linux operating system, and we had already taken some rudimentary steps toward that with Azure. But as Scott Guthrie and our team walked out of those meetings that day, it was certain that we needed to make first-class support for Linux in Azure. We made that decision by the time we got to the parking lot.”

Red Hat solutions are available natively to Microsoft Azure
customers

Breaks down barriers and limitations allowing businesses to take advantage of greater speed, scale and cost benefits.

Integrated enterprise-grade support spanning hybrid environments delivers an end-to-end enterprise support experience for customers using Red Hat offerings on Microsoft Azure, deeper and richer than any other public cloud offering.

Broad portfolio collaboration including SQL Server and .NET across Red Hat offerings, including OpenShift Container Platform and Red Hat Enterprise Linux.

Helps enable unified workload management across hybrid cloud deployments.
